

Setup Manual Fun Volley Set

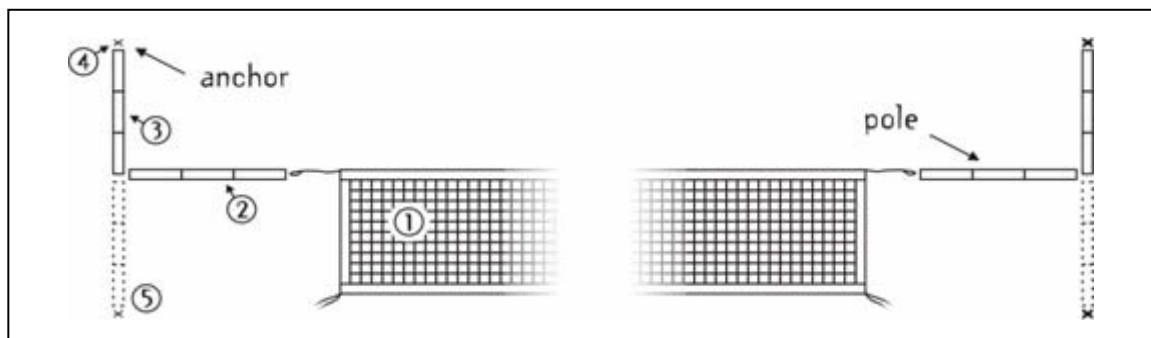

1. Each net pole consists of three pipes. The pipe with the metal hook is the top piece.

2. Connect each belt with a clip lock with a belt without a clip lock. Please make sure that the loops are at the end of the belts and not at the clip locks (see picture). Like this you get four tensioning belts. Put the small loops of the tensioning belts underneath the disk of the sand anchor.

3. To set the position of the sand anchors, unfold the net (see sketch (1)) completely and lay down one net pole (2) at the extension of the upper tensioning rope of the net. Now place the second net pole (3) at the end of the first one (2) in a 90° angle. The end of this net pole marks the first position for a sand anchor (4). Repeat this procedure to find the other positions (5). Altogether you get four positions for the sand anchors to fix the net poles. At last hammer the sand anchors to fix the net poles. At last hammer the sand anchors into the sand at a pointed angle (away from the pole). Please make sure that you placed the loops of the tensioning belts underneath the disks of the sand anchors beforehand.

4. Put the big loops of the tensioning belts around the top end of the net poles (see picture) and put up the poles sloping.

5. Tighten the four tensioning belts evenly and like this put up the net pole vertically.

6. Tie the yellow rope, which is used to attach the lower end of the net to the pole, up to the black knob of the bungee cable.

7. The ideal net position can be reached by adjusting the tensioning belts and the lower tensioning ropes of the net.
